Polish officers and non-commissioned officers of Headquarters Multinational Corps Northeast (HQ MNC NE) participated in national military skills development held at the shooting range on 22 February 2011.

The aim of military skills development is to maintain high level of military skills and competence and, therefore, it needs to be organised on a cyclical basis. Even though Multinational Corps Northeast is a multinational unit, basic military training belongs to national responsibility.

This particular military skills development consisted of several parts. First of all, the Polish soldiers refreshed their knowledge concerning activities preceding shooting. It was a prerequisite to start the actual shooting training with a pistol P-94 WIST and a rifle kbk AKMS. The whole training event was complement with chemical defence training as well as first aid training.

It was the first basic military skills development for Polish soldiers organised this year. More training events will follow.
