Written by Marcin Walczak
Tuesday, 21 August 2012 12:24

On 21 August 2012, a group of 32 newcomers to Headquarters Multinational Corps Northeast (HQ MNC NE) took part in the newcomers' briefing, which served as an excellent opportunity for them to get deeper into the Corps' family.

The newcomers' briefing is series of briefings given by representatives of different branches of the Corps in order to give all new personnel most necessary information shortly after their arrival. As far as topics are concerned, the briefings are focused on e.g. historical background of HQ MNC NE, organisation, tasks and the way ahead. Furthermore, the newcomers receive some practical background information concerning staff support, medical support, security, information management and functioning of the different clubs at the HQ.

"I really find it very useful to get all basic information about the Corps in such a concentrated form" – said Lieutenant Colonel Dariusz Wierucki, a new member of G-3 Staff Division. "There are still open questions but now I know whom should I ask and where to look for the information in order to get my answers"
– he added.

Photo by: Marian Cihon, SVK CIV