

Exercise before deployment

Written by AG

Wednesday, 30 August 2006 09:00

During the Mission Specific Training the Corps soldiers learned from the briefers about terrorism and its characteristics and the current situation in Afghanistan.

Yesterday, Headquarters of Multinational Corps Northeast held a one-day training related to Afghanistan deployment. The way lectures were delivered allowed to start from the general information and to continue with more detailed and specific one, also during functional area trainings and workshops.

During the Mission Specific Training the Corps soldiers learned from the briefers about terrorism and its characteristics and the current situation in Afghanistan. It was also an occasion to share the knowledge and experiences gained during reconnaissance trip to Kabul by selected personnel from the Corps HQ.

The preparation process to Afghanistan deployment, which is planned to take part in January has been covering variety of trainings, lectures, and exercises so that each single soldier gains necessary capabilities and knowledge to carry out the tasks in a professional manner.