

Deputy Commander of the Multinational Corps Northeast (MNC NE) Major General Ole Køppen took part in the NATO Corps Commanders' Seminar hosted by the Commander of the NATO Rapid Deployable Corps – Turkey (NRDC-Turkey). The Seminar was held on 16 and 17 March 2009 in Istanbul.

It has already become a solid tradition among the NATO family that representatives of all NATO Corps meet once in a while to talk over all current issues and decide on the common way ahead.

The Seminar in Istanbul was dominated mostly by discussions related to the ISAF mission in Afghanistan. The Commander of the NRDC-Turkey presented his Corps' experiences gathered in Afghanistan. The discussion also touched on the manning issues within the Headquarters ISAF and its structure, which cannot be filled by one Corps independently. During the Seminar also the role and future developments of the Corps were thoroughly discussed as well as the cooperation within the NATO Force Structure and NATO Command Structure. Apart from that, the Seminar participants talked, for example, about Deployable Joint Staff Elements and Effects Based Approach to Operations.

To make things better
