On 13 May 2011, about 30 people from various parts of Germany visited Headquarters Multinational Corps Northeast. Silke Bremer, an organiser of the trip from the Konrad Adenauer Foundation, explained that the whole trip is about political education offered to people willing to participate from different parts of Germany. "We want to learn something about the history of this town, the economic and political situation of this town," she said about the visit to Szczecin. She also said that in order to learn very different aspects of this town and of Poland, they decided to visit Multinational Corps Northeast to find out about its role, tasks and mission.
