On 7 October 2011, Headquarters Multinational Corps Northeast (HQ MNC NE) hosted a representative of the Baltic Defence College (BDC) to discuss future cooperation between both institutions.

In reference to the visit of MNC NE representatives at the Baltic Defence College (BDC) located in Tartu, Estonia, conducted in June this year, the Corps invited a representative of the Baltic Defence College, Lieutenant Colonel Finn Jensen, for further talks about possible ways of cooperation and mutual support between both institutions. The agenda for the meeting was prepared by the Headquarters' Operational Division, but representatives from Air Operation Coordination Centre (AOCC) and other HQ Divisions also participated in the meeting.

□ "We began to develop how we could achieve mutual benefit from our cooperation," said Lieutenant Colonel Finn Jensen.

"We already have some ideas which have to be approved by our superiors first," said the Baltic Defence College representative. Possible areas of cooperation may refer to, for example, sharing corps' experiences or expertise on the Comprehensive Operational Planning Directive.

As soon as more binding decisions are made, the actual planning process of closer cooperation between the Corps and the College will be launched.
